

Mrs. Serwah Quaynor has been at the forefront of Autism in Ghana for over twenty-two years, who is Founder/ Executive Director of Autism Awareness Care & Training (AACT). She is a mother of Nortey, a 38 year old autistic man. She is an autistic advocate and a visionary in autism activism.

She has impacted the lives of many children with autism in Ghana and Africa. Serwah is a leader in the education of children with autism and champions awareness and activism for acceptance.

The Autism Center she founded has over the years served the needs of many many children with autism.

Her dedication to the cause has helped over the years to educate society on autism. Her exemplary educational and humanitarian work has earned her several awards and citations locally and internationally.

Mrs Quaynor has organized numerous workshops to educate, parents, siblings, teachers, social workers, health professionals, and other community members on the issues of autism and other related differences.

Serwah Quaynor's advocacy work continues unabated and is presently chairperson of the Autism Society of Ghana (ASOG). Serwah is a Changer Leader for Reach for Change Africa and is a founding member of Social Enterprise Ghana.